Stockhead's 'Garimpeiro' columnist Barry FitzGerald is back in the studio for another instalment of The Explorers Podcast.

In this episode Barry chats to Theo Psaros, executive chairman at Metallica Minerals (ASX:MLM).

Metallica Minerals is an Australian development company focussed on delivering high purity silica sand to a diversified global customer-base.

Metallica's Cape Flattery Silica Sands project is located approximately 200km north of Cairns in North Queensland, adjacent to the world class Cape Flattery Silica Sands mining and shipping operation owned by Mitsubishi.

Confidence in the company's Cape Flattery Silica Sand project recently went through the roof after infill drilling boosted measured resources by 74% to 16.7Mt at 99.26% silicon oxide.
